A Beautiful Function.

In response to invitations issued about two weeks ago by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Brennan, about one-hundred and seventy-five guests assembled at their beautiful country place, four miles from town, on the Lexington pike and enjoyed the genuine Kentucky hospitality of the gallant host and lovely hostess. The weather looked threatening late in the afternoon, but the weather man was good to this popular couple and the evening turned out to be an ideal one for the occasion.

Many of the guests took advantage of the interurban and went out on the car. The road that turns into Mr.
Brennan's place was dotted with lanterns and a walk of ten minutes brought us to the house. As we climbed up the hill and over the bridge, fairland seemed to open before us.
The magnificent woodland that surrounds the Brennan home was ablaze with lights. Lights shown from every door and window of the house, and Mr.
Brennan met you at the door with a grasp of the hand and a welcome so cordial you felt glad to be there. The receiving line stood at one end of the porch that runs across the entire front of the house. Heading it, of course, was the gracious mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Brennan, handsomely gowned in what seemed to be cloth of silver—a material that caught the light from every point. It had the effect of moonlight on rippling water. Assisting her was her aunt, Mrs. Magowan, from Montgomery county, in handsome black net, Mrs. Charlton Alexander, Jr., and Mrs. Sidney G. Clay, both in dainty lingerie gowns, and Mrs. Carol Hamilton, of Montgomery, in pale blue chiffon dotted over with American beauty roses.

Two tables were placed under the branches of a beautiful forest tree, just across the drive from the house, and one was a huge cut glass punch bowl, presided over by Miss Robyn Hamilton, a niece of Mrs. Brennan's, and Miss Allene Power. On the other table was an elegant silver service, and here Miss Elizabeth Sherline Rice, of Owingsville, poured coffee and served sandwiches. Ices and cakes were passed among the guests as they stood on the lawn, and Weber's orchestra gave a finishing touch to this picture as they rendered one beautiful selection after another from an upper balcony.

Ten o'clock came all too soon, but time and tide and trolly cars wait for no man, so with reluctant steps the guests went in search of host and hostess to say good-night and express their pleasure and enjoyment. The Brennan lawn fete will go down in social annals as one of the most beautiful and picturesque entertainments ever given in the county.
